- Yes...

- Let's go!

They were looking for the necklace, but anywhere there wasn't that thing.

One day in a living room she said:

- Maybe someone stole my necklace. Certainly!

- Oh, no honey. You lost that. But I bought a pretty ring for you. Do you like it?

- Yes it's fantastic, but I very liked that necklace. I'm sorry.

- It's okay.

Next day they invited Jenny – their friend. Amy cooked a very good dinner. Tom bought a long and red dress for her.

- Good afternoon – said Jenny.

- Hello, come in – said Amy.

- Oh, it's yours.

Amy looked very strange. Now she held in her hand a necklace. This necklace!

- Are you okay? – asked Jenny.

- You have my...

- Yes, I borrowed that for my mum's party. Thank you very much. You forgot?

- But you are my wonderful detective in the world! – said Tom.

- And my – said Jenny.

- I love you – Tom and you – Jenny.

- We love you too. You are a very funny detective.

They ate a dinner and a chocolate cake. Then they watched two films. All the time they were laughing.

Next year Amy wrote a book and it became a bestseller. Tom bought a black and speed car.
And Jenny for bithday got a ring a necklace.
